

Schools are increasingly encouraging students to learn robotics as part of the curriculum or even as an extra-curricular activity. DPS DLF CITY is no exception. We provide the necessary kits, trainers and support services for the students. The kits are a combination of hardware and software. While the hardware products involve making robots, the software services enable students to create application that can operate robots. The working of levers, pulleys, hardware and software design is what the students ultimately learn.

